PSALM 49

HEAR this, all you all people; give ear, all you all inhabitants of the World:

Both low and high, rich and poor, together.

My mouth shall speak wisdom; and my heart's meditation, understanding.

I will incline my ear to parables: I will open my harp to riddles.

Wherefore should I fear in the days of evil, when the iniquity of my heels shall compass me about?

They that trust in their wealth, and boast themselves in the multitude of their riches;

None of them can by any means redeem his brother, nor give to the ELOHEEM a ransom for him:

(For the redemption of their person is precious, and it ceases forever,)

That he should still live forever, and not see corruption.

For he sees that wise men die, likewise the fool and the brutish perish, and leave their wealth to others.

Their inward thought is, that their houses shall continue forever, and their dwelling places from gene-race-aion to gene-race-aion; they call their lands after their own names.

Nevertheless adamites being in honor abides not: he is like the beasts that perish.

This their way is their folly: yet their posterity approve their sayings.

Like sheep they are laid in the grave; death shall feed on them; and the upright shall have dominion over them in the morning; and their beauty shall consume in the grave from their dwelling.

But the ELOHEEM will redeem my person from the power of the grave: for he shall receive me.

Be not you afraid when one is made rich, when the glory of his house is increased;

For when he dies he shall carry nothing away: his glory shall not descend after him.

Though while he lived he blessed his person: and men will praise you, when you do well to yourself.

He shall go to the gene-race-aion of his fathers; they shall never see light.

Adamite that is in honor, and understands not, is like the beasts that perish.

This concludes Psalm 49.
